

KITCHEN

from beginning...

As she replaces the lid on the wok, stir fry simmering away underneath, she hears the doorbell ring in the distance.

She takes a sip of sauvignon blanc and quickly glances round her newly installed kitchen, anticipating the reaction of her friends when they see the gleaming black circular island unit with its concave doors.

“Welcome to paradise!” she cries as they enter, relishing their looks of delight.

“Now, that is what I call a kitchen!” her friends exclaim, sitting down to a feast of good food and even better company.

Character

Knots, cracks and splits are left unfilled and vary in size from door to door to create a kitchen that is full of character and looks like it's always been there.

Smooth

All naturally occurring knots, cracks or splits are filled, leaving behind a smooth, uniform texture. This door does, however, still feature a certain amount of wood grain through the painted surface. Suits both contemporary or traditional setting.

Distressed

All naturally occurring knots, cracks or splits are filled to leave a smooth finish, which is then rubbed down at the hard edges to leave a 'rubbed-through' or 'distressed' look. Creates an 'aged' look and feel.

Character with Distressing

Knots, cracks and splits are left unfilled and vary in size from door to door. Hard edges are then rubbed down to leave a 'rubbed-through' or 'distressed' look. This creates an 'aged' look and feel.

Please note: Timber can be susceptible to expansion and shrinkage depending on the environment in which it is installed.

This means it can expand when there is an abundance of moisture in the air, particularly in winter or when excess moisture is prevalent in renovated or new builds. Contraction or panel shrinkage may occur in the summer months when the climate is drier.

This potential natural movement of the timber can cause any layer of paint, lacquer, varnish etc that has been applied, to move with it and may result in panel shrinkage and hairline cracks along the joints of the door.

Timber

Nothing quite matches the look and feel of a timber kitchen. Sure to impress with its rich texture and solid structure, it provides a warm welcome for anyone who walks into the room. Whether you choose Oak, with its honey coloured tones and rich grain structure, Walnut, with its sophisticated dark hue or Ash for a lighter, brighter feel, timber spells quality and will never disappoint.

Finishing Touches

Looking at your brand new, dream kitchen from the outside is a very pleasurable experience you will relish. But how about feeling equally as good looking at the inside? When experiencing the joy of choosing doors and accessories, we sometimes forget that the internal functionality of our kitchen also contributes hugely to our enjoyment of our new space.

Just because it's on the inside doesn't mean it shouldn't be beautiful. Take a look and see...

Lighting

Never underestimate the importance of lighting in a kitchen environment. Whether it is for directly lighting a food preparation or cooking area, creating a focal point on a special feature or is simply for ambient effect, the correct lighting will always enhance and improve your kitchen.

What's yours?

...to end

“Mmmmm...Mum’s made cherry pie!” he shouts up the stairs, the sweet aroma wafting through the house, enticing the entire family to the kitchen.

Everyone takes a place round the breakfast bar, enjoying a slice of pie, chatting and joking, as Mum looks round at her happy brood. “There’s nothing like a kitchen to bring people together”, she says “it is definitely the heart of the home”.

your kitchen is your story
